

We invite you to be part of building jacks place

You can:

Donate to support the development of the centre and its future model of care

Become a funding partner through philanthropy, corporate giving or major gifts

Introduce us to people, businesses, foundations or organisations who may want to help

Support the creation of the residential facility through property refurbishment, construction, professional services or in-kind support

Share our story to help more people understand why jacks place is needed

Partner with us to build awareness, trust and long-term community support

Together, we can save lives.

Be part of jacks place. Get involved today!

Donate through our website www.jacksplacefoundation.org.au

Become a member info@jackplacefoundation.org.au

Offer practical or in-kind support
info@jackplacefoundation.org.au

Speak with us about how you can help 0415 398 718

Help us build jacks place.

A place where hope lives.

WELCOME TO

jacks place
FOUNDATION

Hope Lives Here

A safe place for people in suicidal crisis to pause, be held and begin to heal.

jacks place Foundation is working to create a purpose-built residential centre for people experiencing acute suicidal crisis.

Our vision is to provide a calm, safe and deeply supportive place where people can receive specialised, evidence-based therapeutic care in a residential setting — away from the pressure and trauma of emergency departments, but with the clinical structure and support needed during a time of significant risk.

Who we are jacks place Foundation was founded from lived experience, deep compassion and a clear recognition that there is a critical gap in Australia's mental health system.

jacks place Foundation exists to help fill that gap. We are building a new model of care grounded in safety, dignity, compassion, connection and hope.

What we are creating jacks place will be a purpose-built residential suicide-prevention centre offering:

a safe and calm environment for people in acute suicidal crisis;

specialised, evidence-based therapeutic care;

a highly trained and supported care team;

a structured model of care guided by a clinical practice framework;

support that eases trauma for individuals and their loved ones;

a place where people can recover, stabilise and reconnect with hope.

Why it matters

Suicide prevention needs more than emergency response.

People in crisis need somewhere safe to go before, during and after the moment of greatest risk. Families and loved ones also need reassurance that the person they care about is being held in an environment designed specifically for this kind of care.

jacks place Foundation aims to provide a lifeline where one is urgently needed.

“

“A place where people can recover, stabilise and reconnect with hope.”

What makes jacks place different jacks place is being developed around a simple but powerful idea: People in suicidal crisis need more than intervention. They need safety, dignity, specialist care, connection and hope.

Our model is:

Residential — providing a calm, supportive place to stay during acute crisis.

Specialised — focused specifically on suicidality and suicide prevention.

Evidence-based — guided by clinical practice, therapeutic care and governance.

Human-centred — designed to reduce trauma and support both guests and loved ones.

Hope-filled — creating the conditions for people to pause, recover and begin again.